Overview

Seven Virginia schools are ranked in the 2026 College Free Speech Rankings. The state's average speech-climate grade is D, compared to a national average of F.

The University of Virginia ranks 21 overall and is the top-ranked school in the state. It holds a “green light” rating in FIRE’s Spotlight database, meaning its written policies do not seriously threaten student expression. UVA’s Board of Visitors has adopted the pro-free speech Chicago Statement. UVA is also the only school in the state that has adopted a statement on institutional neutrality.

George Mason University and William & Mary rank 26 and 33, respectively. Both hold “green light” ratings and have not adopted a statement of institutional neutrality - while GMU has adopted the Chicago Statement. Virginia Tech and Washington & Lee University have adopted the Chicago Statement but maintain “yellow light” policies that threaten student expression. James Madison University and the University of Richmond also hold “yellow light” ratings and have not adopted major free speech statements.

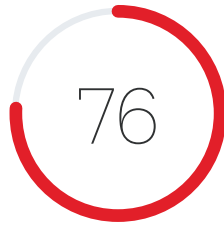

Clarifying written policies and strengthening institutional commitments would help improve free-speech climates across Virginia campuses.
